

SEMINAR

Seminar Topic:
Research using digital stories

Liz Dimitriadis & Mark Lyall
LDC Group

When? Monday 14th July

Where? RMIT Business 239 Bourke St
Melbourne - Level 16 Room 100

This seminar they will examine the use of digital stories to collect and convey data; and the tensions between the roles of the digital story teller and the researcher. Using examples of recent work Liz and Mark will present their experiences and facilitate discussion about relevant research theory and emerging technologies.

Liz has been consulting to government departments and public service organisations for 14 years and Mark is completing a PhD in media studies at Latrobe University. Liz's and Mark's combined experiences have enabled them to explore the use of digital stories in research contexts.

Seminar free to AQR members, $10 admin fee to non-members
